- Rashmin, Gary, Vik, Neil, Dave Y
- Helen is working with IRB folks (Mike Weiss?) to make sure the IRB protocol will get through the IRB without any problems
 - Rashmin will push for moving faster on the IRB
- Met with the COO - want a presentation with a budget
 - Should be able to show prototype product next month along with budget and pitch
 - Gary will help with pitch
 - Rashmin can't present, but can facilitate and help with pitch
 - Consider applying for innovation fund (march of dimes?) - rashmin is on the board
 - <https://www.marchofdimes.org/our-work/march-dimes-innovation-fund>
 - Rashmin thinks real opportunity is delivery room
 - Delivery room is more complicated with all the activity
 - Perhaps the dental chair option is best - have it built in under the mattress to avoid issues - rashmin loves this idea
 - Technical issues? Baby small and location may be variable
 - Need a remote screen, etc.
 - Warmer might get in the way if they are metallic?
 - Neonatal health consortium? Gary may have connections here
 - Rashmin will check for August 18th in the afternoon for meeting with COO
- Mike Weiss has written a paper on non-contact vital sign monitoring using an infant simulator with Changzhi
- COO may be leaving, she has been somewhat difficult to deal with
- Goal: half the cost of angeleye system
- Rashmin - everyone on "team" is in favor, but need to get upper management officially on board

Thank you Neil. I think I got the gist. The bedradar (beddar) sounds awesome!

What do you think I should be doing?

No idea 🤔. All we kind of need in the short term is user requirements for the camera system...not sure how important it is though
